The Reason Why.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, one of the ablest papers of the south, in its issue of the 12th instant says:

The New England states hold the purs strings of the republic. The secret of their success has been utilization of splendid water power for manufacturing purposes. People engaged in manufacturing have been educated to the highest point in their callings, and the ertion now stands the richest in the sistergreesed rapidly—because of vast mineral re-gions, the wealth of which is extracted and manufactured "on the ground." This section is growing in wealth daily and keeping pace with the world of prosperity. The western states, which section has sprung into prominence in less than half a century and commanded an important position among the rich and go-ahead states of the Union, depend almost entirely on the adaptability of the soil to agriculture—the growing of grain and

Each of the sections are ahead of the south-ern states, though it is pointed out with pleas-ure that our section is now fairly in the race and bids fair to distance competitors and rank first in the states united as regards wealth and future possibilities. There is no reason why the south should not lead. Here we have water power, by virtue of which New England has grown wealthy; here, too, are mineral de-posits as rich and as inexhaustible as those of the middle states; here we have as fine soil adapted to agricultural pursuits as any section with the things on the earth and within the earth that have ministered to the wealth and importance of our more progressive asso-ciates in the union of states, and if we precess the water advantages of the New England the mineral resources of the middle, and the agricultural facilities of the western states, there is no reason why we should not only overtake those sections, but the argument stands that we should surpass and outstrip

After baying so ably and truthfully stated the existing conditions, the Chronicle enprescribe the methods by or through which the south can overtake and outstrip the other sections in the race for wealth. And we think that our contemporary, usually so clear in its statements and so clever and correct in its deductions. fails to give the true reasons why the south has not in the past, does not now, and caunot in the future (without a decided change) utilize the advantages it undoubtedly pos-

It is probably not the fault of the Chroni ele, but of its readers, that it fails to point out what it evidently knows are the true remedies for the existing conditions, and only gives the stereotyped, though correct, advice as to the necessity of diversified in dustries, without an attempt to show how the capital to inaugurate these diversified industries is to be secured. The Chronicle says:

If the farmer will stop buying meat and hay and corn, which he can so readily produce on his own lands, then we will manufacture in the south the produce which we now ship to our New England friends; if we will equip and operate small and diversified manufacturing enterprises; if we will keep our money at nome, patronize home institutions, and be more dependent on ourselves, then will have teen inaugurated that era in the history of the south which will bring our section to the van. These things would be the result of the change that is necessary to enable the south to successfully complete with the other sections, not the methods to produce that

What the south needs is money to develop its industries. How to get that money is the question for its people to consider.

There is but one way. It has been well said "that there is nothing more timid than a million dollars except two millions," This is true. Money goes a begging now in the eastern and middle states for an interest of three per cent, or an investment that will pay five or six per cent , because the owners of the money know that the capital loaned or invested will be secure.

Yet this same money can be leaned or invested in the south so that it will pay double, and in many instances triple and quadruple these figures. It will not go there, however, even for these rich rewards because of the feeling of insecurity that is induced by the political condition of the gouthern states.

Capital sees a nearly solid phalanx of white men in one political party, dominating nearly an equal number of black men in the other political party, and by methods more or less objectionable, but all in violation, not only of political and personal rights, but of law, depriving these black men of all political power.

Capital sees that this system of political prescription not only affects the states of the south where it is practiced, but also affects the whole country to such an extent, that for years it has controlled onbranch of the national legislature, and no v controls the Executive, thus deprising the majority of its constitutional right to rule.

Capital sees further, that the men of the south, who compose the party thus ruling, advocate theories of political economy, that, put in force, even through the legitl mate means provided by law, would endanger it, and that this danger would be fmmeasurably increased if these theories ouclusions in this case that causes an Eng ish lean at il per cent, to be taken at pa when a Turkish loan at 7 per cent, would be beavily discounted, if taken at all, The south must remove the cause which revents investments. The Chronich knows this as well as the NATIONAL RE-PUBLICAN does. Until that is done the south is too heavily handleapped through its own setions to stand any chance of even 'a place" in the race.

Increased Wages and Workers. Bradstreet's has been making an investiration as to the relative number of persons t work in the various productive industries of the country, as compared with the last wo years. The examination covered thirty-three cading manufacturing cities, and the minng districts of the states of Pennsylvania hio, Virginia, and Maryland.

The report shows a most important in-crease in the number of persons at work, and also an increase of wages in most classes of labor, of from 5 to 20 per cent., while there has been a decrease in none.

In the territory covered by the examinaion there were employed in March, 1885, one million four hundred and sixty-two housand persons, and in March, 1897, one illion eight bundred and lifty-seven thou and, an increase of three hundred and nine y five thousand, which makes twenty-sever per cent.-more than one quarter-added to the wage carners, and that at increased

The facts shown indicate that the ratio of the total increase of employes for the whole country is still greater, because the inquiry as to mining was confined to those sections of the country where new mines are not teing opened, only work resumed upon those that were lying idle, while both in the south and west large numbers of new mines have been opened in these two years, necessitating the employment of a large number of laborers.

This increase in employes means a greatly creased power of consumption, 400,000 idle persons have gone to work at wages varying from $1 to $3 per day, the average probably being at least 89 per week, and the number of weeks of employment in the year not less than forty, so that each one of this army of workers earns and received $300, making a total payment of wages in the year of $144,000,000, of which none wa

Of course, not less than 90 per cent. of this sum is expended as fast as earned, and its expenditure gives employment and increased wages to other workingmen Substantial and permanent prosperity are the inevitable results that flow from such conditions, and this can only be checked by the unnatural contraction of money through the retention of an enormous sur plus in the treasury, where it cannot be used in the business of the country.

A "Scoop" on the "Omaha Bee." The religious editor of the Omaha Reput lican was possibly attending a "purring" match or a chicken fight in South Omaha last Sunday night and left his day work in the hands of the city editor, for Monday's paper had the Easter services headed "Echoes of Easter. How the Saviour's Birthday was Beautifully Observed in Omeha, &c." It has been left for the flourishing settlement on the banks of the "Big Muddy" to discover that Easter was the celebration of the Saviour's birth. The effete east has hitherto imagined that Christmas had that

MR. EDWARD ATKINSON, one of the ablest statistical writers of the country, says in the Century Magazine that there never has been a period in the history of this or any other country equal to the present in this country, at this period (January, 1887), in the following conditions: 1st. So large a product made and distributed at so low a cost in ratio to the capital invested either in preduction or in the mechanism of distribution; 2d. So low a rate of profit sufficing to satisfy capital and to induce further investments in any or all arts; 3d. So high a general rate of wages carned by so small a number of hours of work per day; 4th, So large a purchasing power in each unit or dollar of the wages or earnings, when expended for the necessaries or comforts of life; 5th. In no previous period has the workman received so large a proportion of the joint product of labor and capital, o its equivalent either in money or goods.

Preserving Wood.

The "Carolina Oil and Creosote Company, t Wilmington, N. C., has a capacity for manu-acturing 9,120 gallons of crossote oil per week. tacturing 9,120 gallons of creosote oil per week. The company manufactures this oil from yellow pine wood. It is said by scientists to be the best oil now known for the preservation of wood against dry and wet rot, as well as a perfect protection of wood in salt water from the ravages of the teredo worm.

The Wilmington company has three cylinders each 6½ feet in diameter—one 65, one 75, and the other 90 feet in length. These cylinders are used for creosoting lumber of every description. The capacity is 45,000 feet, B. M. per day, putting in from 8 to 29 lbs. of oil to the cubic foot. The demand for creosoted lumber is constantly increasing.

The company is making handsome dividends on its capacity of the plant, and thereby increasing its receipts.

This is one of the most important entergration.

This is one of the most important enterprise This is one of the most important enterprises ever started in this country, not only on account of the very rapid destruction of the forests, but it has become absolutely necessary to preserve and extend the life of railroad and wharf timber, which this oil does, for at least four or five times ionger than the ordinary life of timber untreated.

whier timber, which this oil does, for at least four of five times inoger than the ordinary life of timber untreated.

A board of navy officers designated by the Sceretary of the Mavy spent a week at Wilmitgton making a thorough examination of the creosoto works and officially reported very strongly in favor of the methods of this company for preserving timber, fumber, &c.

Col. W. P. Craichill, Capt. W. H. Bixby, and other cogineer officers of the army have given considerable attention to the preservation of timber, and they have thoroughy examined the works of the "Carolina Oil and Creosote Company," and they have thoroughy examined the works of the "Carolina Oil and Creosote Company," and they bave thoroughy examined the Treasury Department and superintendent for constructing the custom house wharf at Charleston, S. the process used by the works at Wilmington, N. C.

The company has crossoted in the past year millions of feet of cross ties for South America, and it has also filled large orders for cable railreads in the United States.

Another company has been organized lately for the purpose of doing business under the same patents and in the same manner. This company is known as "The Crossote Lumber and Construction Company," and it will do its manufacturing business in Florida, where pine wood and timber are very cieap. This company is putting in an exceedingly fine and extensive plant, for it knows, from the experience and success of the Wilmington, N. C. Company, that it will pay, and pay handsonely. Messrs, Hansen & Smith are the putenters of the process of manufacturing the creeks oil, and the method of injecting it into timber. Mr. Hansen is the superintendent, and Mr. Smith is the secretary and treasure of the Wilmington Company, and credit is due to them for the success of the works.

Mr. Buchardi, of Savannah, Ga. one of the rest engineers in the country, is the engineer and superintendent of the company operating in Florida, and Col. E. R. Brink is the secretary and treasured superintendent of the company operating in Florida, and Col. E. R. Brink is the secretary and treasurer. Sendantes Smith are on the beard of directors. Col. W. P. Canaday is the president of both companies.

Defective Steering Gear.

through the illegitimate methods of southern Democracy.

Timid as it is, capital fears that these conditions will produce troubles which would endanger it, and therefore prefers the safe investment with smaller returns, the same reasoning producing the same that there are reasoning producing the same of the European cruise.

Defective Steering Gear.

The chiefs of the bureau of construction and engineering of the Navy Department have gone to Norfolk to inspect the steem steering grant the United States steamship Trenton. It appears that the same system of steering as the deal of the Dolphin was placed on the Trenton more than three years ago, and that thus, the vessel being steered by hand during the whole of her European cruise.

EXCHANGE ON NEW YORK

tempted by a Texas Bank. There was received at the United States reasury for redemption a package of perfectly new United States notes of all decominations to the amount of $1,000, which were mutilated by having a hole punched through them, through which a cord had been passed, and then sealed on the outside of the wrapper. The package was sent to Washington by express by a national bank in Texas. The mutilation was evidently intended as an additional safegurard in the transportation of the notes. This is said to be the practice of many of the southern express companies in the transportation of money to the treasury for redemption, but the present is the first instance where new, uninjured notes have been treated in this way. It is not known whether these particular notes were mutilated by the bank to be the present that it was done by the bank to secure exchange on New York at the expense of the government. Acting Treasurer Whelpley refused to receive the notes, and directed their return to the bank at its expense, with a statement that such been passed, and then sealed on the outside at its expense, with a statement that such mutilation is considered a violation of law and will not be permitted by the depart-

CHINESE CERTIFICATES.

Fraudulent Ones Found Being Used at San Francisco.

A report was recently received at the Treasury Department from Special Agent Beecher at San Francisco in regard to the landing at that port of three Chinamen on return certificates purporting to have been issued by A. M. Bash, collector of customs at Port Townsend, but which certificates were subsequently discovered to be fraudulent, the collector's signature having been forged. The blank forms used were genuine, and are supposed to be part of a lot stellen from the custom house in 1885. It is said that the forgery was committed by a person who knew that there was a break of about 100 numbers in the series recorded at Port Townsend and that he purposely made use of the intervening numbers. In view of the fact that the collector at San Francisco, Portland, and Astoria have been advised not to accept as grauine returned certificates bearing any of the numbers comprised within the break in the series, the department does not feel called upon to take any action in the case beyond advising a prosecution of the offenders should they be discovered. customs at Port Townsend, but which

The annual report of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company has just been conjeted. It states that 503 miles of track and 16 miles of sidings were in operation by the company at the close of the past year. The gross miles of sidings were in operation by the company at the close of the past year. The grossearnings for the year were $3,392,095 and the operating expenses $1,999,099, leaving not earnings of $1,291,447. Adding $24,393 dividends and interest received from the Roanoke Machine Works and deducting $1,193,785 interest charges, the surplus for the year was $131,694. This shows an increase in gross earnings, as compared with 1885, of $189,985, and of net earnings of $169,018; the earnings from local traffic in 1880 were 57 per cent. of the total and last year they were 72 per cent. The company has contracted several short branches to cold overs in the vicinity of its line. As a result overs in the vicinity of its line. As a result of mew ovens have been erected and over 1 000 more are under contract. The report treats at length of the mineral resources of the country along the line, of the arrangements with connecting lines, and the improvements in the company's equipment. GARRETT PARK.

SECOND AUCTION OF LOTS, SATURDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 16, 1887.

Take 12:30 train from the Baltimore and Ohlo Station, and return by 5:30, in time for dinner.

The same liberal terms will be offered as at the Auction on April 6, with the mimimum price at three (3) cents a square foot. Purchasers will be allowed to pay two (2) per cent. in advance at the Park, and two (2) per cent. for forty-nine (49) months thereafter, with interest at six (6) per cent, on the deferred paynents. To illustrate, if a purchaser buys a lot for $200 he must pay $4 in advance at the Park and $4 each month thereafter, for forty-nine (49) months, with a few cents added for interest. As a special inducement to erect cottages a rebate of one-half (14) of the purchase price above three (3) cents a foot (excluding interest) will be allowed to the original pur chaser, or his assigns, for the erection of a house worth $1,000 or more prior to July 1, 1888. Purchasers of any lot may, within on week of the sale, take an adjoining lot, if then unsold, and the crection of one house on either lot, as above, will secure the rebate described. Ladies are recommended to wear old shoes. Parties who wish to enjoy a pleasant picnic and carefully examine the Park should take the 9:30 a. m. train.
